Introduction - The following bibliography was compiled to guide parents, educators, and young readers to children’s books about the Holocaust and related subjects that are in the Library’s collection. It is not meant to be exhaustive. Annotations provide a brief description of the story or topic of each book. Call numbers for the Museum’s Library are given in parentheses following each citation. Those unable to visit might be able to find these works in a nearby public library or acquire them through interlibrary loan. Follow the “Find in a library near you” link in each citation and enter your zip code at the Open WorldCat search screen. The results of that search indicate all libraries in your area that own that particular title. Talk to your local librarian for assistance.

The story of Anne Frank, told through a simple narrative. Includes a chronology and brief history of what happened to the diary after the war. Intended for ages 7-10.
- Rubin, Susan Goldman, and Ela Weissberger. The Cat with the Yellow Star: Coming of Age in Terezin. New York: Holiday House, 2006. (DS 135 .C97 W45537 2006) [Find in a library near you]

A biography of Ela Stein, who survived the Terezin camp and played the cat in the play Brundibár. Includes photographs, source notes, and a bibliography of works suitable for young readers, articles, videos/DVDs, sound recordings, interviews, and Internet sites. Intended for ages 8-11.
- Rubin, Susan Goldman. Fireflies in the Dark: The Story of Friedl Dicker-Brandeis and the Children of Terezin. New York: Holiday House, 2000. (N 6834.5 .D43 R83 2000) [Find in a library near you]

Relates the life of Friedl Dicker-Brandeis, an artist, teacher, and eventual prisoner at the Terezin concentration camp, who worked with the children through art. Describes her experience and the experiences of her students in the camp. Includes an extensive bibliography and an index. Intended for ages 8-12.
- Rubin, Susan Goldman. The Flag with Fifty-Six Stars: A Gift from the Survivors of Mauthausen. Illustrated by Bill Farnsworth. New York: Holiday House, 2005. (D 805.5 .M38 R83 2005) [Find in a library near you]

The true story of an American flag made by Mauthausen survivors to welcome the American liberators. The detailed narrative also outlines the history of Mauthausen, quoting from survivors, including Simon Wiesenthal. Intended for ages 8-10.

- Russo, Marisabina. Always Remember Me: How One Family Survived World War II. New York: Atheneum Books for Young Readers, 2005. (DS 135 .G5 A15865 2005) [Find in a library near you]
As a grandmother goes through a photo album with her granddaughter, she relates the miraculous story of her survival during the Holocaust as well as the survival of her three daughters, one of whom is the child's mother. Includes a glossary of words not defined in the story. Intended for ages 7-9.
- Schroeder, Peter W., and Dagmar Schroeder-Hildebrand. Six Million Paper Clips: The Making of a Children's Holocaust Memorial. Minneapolis, MN: Kar-Ben Publishing, 2004. (D 804.33 .S34 2004) [Find in a library near you]
To help students to comprehend the magnitude of the Holocaust, teachers at Whitwell Middle School in Tennessee designed a project to have the students collect six million paper clips. This book documents their endeavor, which spanned many countries and resulted in the making of a Children's Holocaust Memorial. Includes photographs and an index. Intended for ages 9-12.
- Steele, D. Kelley. Would You Salute? Illustrated by Becky Hyatt Rickenbaker. Statesville, NC: Hidden Path Publications, 2005. (DS 135 .G5 W5576 2005) [Find in a library near you]
Based on the true story of Margot, a child of an interfaith marriage, and her parents during World War II. In school, Margot is taught how to salute Hitler and given a Nazi uniform. However, when her Jewish father loses his medical practice, her mother explains to her what Hitler actually represents. Margot must choose whether she will still salute. As the story continues to follow the fate of her family, the narrative encourages the reader to ask themselves what they would have done in her situation. Includes a biography of Margot, including pictures of her family. Intended for ages 8-10.
